

Exclamation!® Planetree is carefree

Remarkably symmetrical upright, pyramidal form distinguishes this unique cultivar of the classic and widely planted London Planetree. Introduced by Chicagoland Grows®, its anthracnose resistance, moderate growth rate, light-fruiting habit and resistance to frost cracking are among reasons to plant it, according to the introducer's website, www.Chicagolandgrows.org

We find it to be moderately resistant to powdery mildew, as well. A strong central leader guides the growth of well-spaced branches and makes it an easy-care favorite of growers. Branching of our high-head grade that begins at six feet offers a head start in developing trees for street tree use where the canopy must be pruned up for traffic and pedestrian clearance.
