

Blue Japanese White Pine

Pinus parviflora 'Glauca'

Zone: 4

Height: 15'

Spread: 12'

Shape: Broadly pyramidal

Foliage: Silvery blue green.

This relatively small upright cultivar of the Japanese White Pine is the most commonly seen. The tree has an open layered branch habit. The silvery blue foliage often has a stiff & curved appearance. The tree is often quite narrow when young but broadens out with age. It naturally has an Asian garden look to it without having to be extensively pruned.
